POLITICAL GATHERING SCATTERED BY RAIN

One of the Seasons Hardest Storms on Monday evening.

The first political gathering of the state campaign brought with it one of the worst storms that Tempe has experienced this summer. Reese Ling. former district attorney of Yavapal county was billed to make an address at the Airdome. A good sized crowd gathered at the appointed hour but they didn't stay long. A few showers fell Monday during the forenoon and the late evening was very threatening The rain came in a hurry and fell it torrents. The crowd dispersed rapidly opera house out of the rain. Here Mr Ling delivered his address. He laughingly remarked afterward that he had the growd at his mercy for it rained so hard all during his discourse that no one could leave the building.

Mr. Ling chose Tempe as the place. for opening his campaign by reason of the fact that he really began his active business life here when he graduated from the normal with its first class. He met many old friends while years. His address was an interesting one and It is most unfortunate that the from hearing it.
